

Draughtsperson

Transvac are world leading designers and manufacturers of ejector equipment for the oil and gas industry.

Due to continued expansion, we require a design draughtsman to support the contracts team. We are looking for someone with a mechanical Engineering qualification (Min ONC).

A good team player, you will enjoy working in a busy office environment and to deadlines.

An understanding of pressure vessels / pipework will be a huge advantage in this role but not essential.

This is an excellent opportunity to work for a company who invest in their staff development and who are keen for staff to progress their career.

Reporting to the Engineering manager, the position requires good CAD skills with a preferred knowledge of Solidedge or similar 3D package.
